

January 2018

Greenwich Japanese School | English Newsletter

5B English Class

The New Year has started and the 5B English class is ready to start a brand new year.

For the past few weeks, the 5B English class has been working on summarizing stories and identifying story elements, such as, genre, setting, characters, conflict and resolution. They have been working hard writing summaries, reading stories and even creating their own stories. In our most recent unit called “What’s on TV?” we learned about different TV genres and talked about what we like to watch on TV. The students used their newly learned skill of summarizing to create their own television show. They created a presentation in which they pitched their ideas for a TV show to the class. They included the genre, the characters that would be in the show, the setting, and explained what the show would be about. They used PowerPoint to add pictures to help each other visualize their ideas. In the pictures to the right, the students are presenting their ideas to the class. Each of their individual personalities and creativity can be seen in their ideas for a TV show. They are excited to continue to work hard and have fun with English in 2018!

